

Peebles High School

July 2015

Adams County Fair

Adams County Fair was held the week of July 12th and ran through July 18th. A lot of preparation went into our fair week. Members that raised livestock projects have been busy all year just to lead up to this week. For many people, fair week is the highlight of their year; its what everything leads up to. This is the week when you find out if all of your hard work has paid off, or if you fell short. Fair week is always bustling with activity, exhibitors taking care of their livestock, Junior Fair Board members running around trying to fix problems, advisors helping in anyway possible, and the people of the public always come out to support the youth of the county. Fair week kicked off on Sunday with weigh-in in the morning, the parade in the evening which is then followed by the Queens' Contest, where the royalty for the week is crowned. Through out Sunday afternoon and evening is small animal check-in, as well as crop and shop check-in. Later Sunday evening our Jr. Fair Steer Exhibitors get to compete in the Adams County Born & Raised Steer Show. Monday morning holds the rest of the livestock weigh-ins, including feeder calves, steers, lambs, and goats. On the still-project front, the Food and Nutrition Show is that morning with the awards in the early afternoon, and later in the afternoon is the Style Revue and awards. This year our members were successful in each of their projects and represented our chapter well. A lot of hype came from this event leading us into a wonderful fair week. Rabbit shows kick off our Tuesday morning in the Junior Fair Activities Shelter; lasting all day long starting with showmanship, then the breeding show, followed by the market rabbit show.

morning holds the rest of the live-stock weigh-ins, including feeder calves, steers, lambs, and goats. On the still-project front, the Food and Nutrition Show is that morning with the awards in the early afternoon, and later in the afternoon is the Style Revue and awards. This year our members were successful in each of their projects and represented our chapter well. A lot of hype came from this event leading us into a wonderful fair week. Rabbit shows kick off our Tuesday morning in the Junior Fair Activities Shelter; lasting all day long starting with showmanship, then the breeding show, followed by the market rabbit show.

<http://www.peebles.scoca-k12.org/>

